Fisher alumnus appointed Editor of accounting journal

Dr. Richard Hatfield, who received his Ph.D. from the Fisher School of Accounting in 1998, was recently named Editor of Behavioral Research in Accounting.

Dr. Hatfield is the Ernst & Young Professor of Accounting at the Culverhouse School of Accountancy at the University of Alabama. He also serves as an editor for Auditing: A Journal of Practice and Theory and is a member of the editorial board of Contemporary Accounting Research. Dr. Hatfield’s work has been published in numerous academic journals including The Accounting Review, Journal of Accounting Research, Contemporary Accounting Research, Auditing: A Journal of Practice and Theory, The Journal of the American Taxation Association, and Behavioral Research in Accounting.

Behavioral Research in Accounting is published by the Accounting, Behavior and Organizations Section of the American Accounting Association. The journal highlights original research relating to accounting and how it affects and is affected by individuals and organizations.