

Aaron Brask

Barclays Capital

Aaron Brask is a Director and Head of Equity Derivatives Research at Barclays Capital. Mr. Brask joined Barclays Capital in July 2004 from JP Morgan where he was an Equity Derivatives Strategist. Prior to that, he worked on quantitative trading strategies for the proprietary trading desk at a Florida investment bank, William R. Hough & Co. Mr. Brask completed all of his higher education at the University of Florida. He holds a BS in Mathematics/Statistics, an MSc in Applied Mathematics and a PhD in Mathematical Finance.