

Eric Mandelblatt

Eric Mandelblatt graduated with the highest honors from the University of Florida in 1998 with a BS in Accounting and a Certificate of Completion of a BA in Finance. That same year, Eric joined Goldman Sachs & Co. as an equity research analyst in the Investment Research Department covering natural gas pipeline and distribution companies and Master Limited Partnerships. In 2002, Eric was hired into the Goldman Sachs Principal Strategies Group (formerly Risk Arbitrage Department) as an analyst/investor in the firm's U.S. investing business. He was promoted to Chief Operating Officer of the U.S. Principal Strategies business in 2004. His investment experience includes fundamentally-driven equity long/short, capital structure arbitrage, distressed and volatility investing, principal finance structured products, and broader portfolio management. In 2005, Eric left Goldman Sachs to work for a hedge fund.
