

Scott Friedman

TPG AXON

Scott Friedman is an investment professional at a multi-billion dollar, global hedge fund, trading all asset classes and all parts of the capital structure including equities, fixed income, swaps, derivatives, foreign exchange, commodities, and environmental credits globally. Prior to his current employment, Scott worked for six years at Goldman Sachs and was a member of the Risk Arbitrage and Principal Strategies groups. Scott has a BS degree in Finance and International Economics from the University of Florida. He is also a FA charter holder, a certified FRM holder, and a member of the New York Society of Security Analysts.