

Department of Decision and Information Sciences
Warrington College of Business Administration
University of Florida

DIS Executive Speaker Series
Fall 2006

Mitchell J. Habib, CIO,
Citigroup, North America Consumer

Date: Friday, September 8, 2006
Time: 12 noon – 1:30 pm
Location: BRY 130

Citigroup will also be hosting a lunch
Date: Friday, September 8, 2006
Time: 11:30 am – 12 noon
Location: Business Courtyard

Bio attached

Mitchell J. Habib

Chief Information Officer
Citigroup, North America Consumer

Mitchell Habib is the Chief Information Officer (CIO) for Citigroup North America Consumer, a role he assumed in September, 2005 following his 15-month tenure as CIO for Citi Cards.

Prior to joining Citigroup in June of 2004, Mitchell spent seven years in a series of CIO positions with GE. At GE, Mitchell led strategic initiatives that enabled each of the four divisions he supported to achieve sustainable, profitable growth by leveraging technology. Prior to GE, Mitchell was a Global Director/CIO for Ryder Corporation. He began his management career with Ernst & Young in South Florida, eventually leading the privately owned and emerging business practice there.

Mitchell holds M.S. and B.A. degrees from the University of Florida in Gainesville. Additionally, Mitchell is active in industry organizations and has contributed to numerous published articles on technology best practices.

Mitchell currently resides in Jacksonville with his wife, Elissa and two daughters, Sarah and Ilana.

Update 12/27/05