

Welcome to the Warrington College of Business Administration at the University of Florida!

As your academic advisor and career coach I am looking forward to partnering with you to assist you in your transition to college as well as support you in achieving your educational and career goals. A successful student not only excels academically, but also:

- Develops Leadership Skills (gets involved on and off campus – in student organizations, clubs, community service)
- Enhances Career Development (internships, resume preparation, interviewing skills, networking, mock interviews)
- Adds an International Studies component to their list of qualifications (study abroad, foreign language studies, international study courses)

In order to help you get to know me a little better, here is a brief summary of my background.

I moved to Florida from Chicago (better known as the Windy City!) in September, 2012! I attended the University of Illinois in Champaign for several years, and then went on to complete my B.A. in Communications at Chicago State University. I received my M.A.Ed. from National Louis University and completed a coaching curriculum with Coach U. Before coming to the University of Florida, I worked at DePaul University in downtown Chicago for eight years. I worked with one of the graduate programs for four years and then went on to work in Student Affairs where I worked mostly with non-traditional students (adult students over the age of 24, veterans, commuter and transfer students). I also enjoyed facilitating a course titled “Enhancing Employability Skills for the Workplace”. I learned as much from the students as they learned from me! Before my career change to higher ed, I worked for Kelly Services, Chicago State University, The Spanish Coalition for Jobs, and The Paul Simon Job Corp.

Remember...your time at the University of Florida will go by fast so manage your time wisely!

I look forward to working with you!
