Hi John,

Recently we received a new report from Academic Analytics on the 2012 data. It contains a College Radar Chart – which I am attaching for your College.

The comparison is to national data, with the following notes:

1. AA looked at the disciplines in your College, then took the same discipline groupings from other institutions to create the comparison.
2. These groupings may or may not correspond to an organizational unit called a “College” at the other institutions.
3. If an institution did not meet a threshold for the number of disciplines involved, it was omitted.

Thanks. Let me know if you have any questions.

Marie
