Message from the Dean

Welcome to WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management.

WHU is a private, state-accredited business school of university rank located in the center of Germany – in Vallendar, just outside of Koblenz. The school has frequently been ranked top in international rankings, such as the renowned Financial Times rankings and the Wall Street Journal ranking and is accredited by AACSB, EQUIS and FIBAA.

The school's main mission is to provide first-class education in management at all levels. We are known for the international orientation of our programs, our international joint ventures we have had for a number of years and our extensive student exchange programs. Our students have access to a network of partner universities which has grown to more than 180 first-class institutions worldwide. Student exchanges are a very important element in our programs, because studying abroad deepens a student's knowledge of other cultures and increases both flexibility and mobility.

Just as WHU students spend considerable time abroad (one term at the undergraduate level and another term at the graduate level), we are happy to welcome many students from our partner institutions at our school and to offer them a unique learning environment. Currently, about 25% of the students on our campus come from abroad and we are proud that their number is growing continuously. We appreciate very much the contributions of our exchange students both in the classroom and outside, because they enrich the discussion and give our campus life an international flair.

Our Director of International Relations (Stefanie Schweins), together with her team as well as our Housing Office (Philomena Richartz) do their best to advise every exchange student in his or her specific situation and needs. Furthermore, "VIP", our student initiative, has planned several activities to help you integrate quickly. And, last but not least, you will have the guidance of two buddies (WHU student and academic buddy). If you need any further assistance please do not hesitate to ask for help in our International Relations Office.

The program of studies at WHU offers you a thorough foundation in all areas of management. It addresses the different aspects of what future managers need to be aware of when working in a challenging international environment. In addition to general management issues, our course of studies also addresses questions like ethics, rhetoric, and other topics of personal development. Currently, 29 full professors and 16 assistant professors from Germany and abroad provide a learning experience that is driven by intellectual rigor and team leadership. On behalf of the entire WHU staff I wish you a pleasant and successful stay at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management.

Sincerely yours,

Professor Dr. Michael Frenkel
Dean

“The experience at WHU was the most precious time in my life. I got to know a lot of nice people who are German students and exchange students from all over the world. We shared a great time together by doing such things as studying for case studies and exams, taking parties, cooking, drinking and traveling together. I wish I could have stayed longer at WHU.”

Germany within Europe and the World

Capital: The capital and largest city is Berlin.

Population: About 82 million people, making it the 2nd most populous country in Europe.

Government type: Germany is a democratic parliamentary federation and consists of 16 federal states.

Time zone: Central European Time (CET)

Official language: German is the official language but a lot of people know foreign languages.

Geography: The Federal Republic of Germany is located in the heart of Europe. Germany is surrounded by nine other countries: Denmark to the North, Holland, Belgium, Luxembourg and France to the West, Switzerland and Austria to the South, and the Czech Republic and Poland to the East. The country covers an area of 357,050 km².

Economy: Germany is the 4th largest economy in the world and the largest economy in the European Union. It is the world's 3rd strongest exporting nation. German companies have an excellent international reputation and the sign "Made in Germany" stands for quality, innovation and advanced technology.

Climate: Germany lies between the West Winds of the Atlantic Ocean and the continental climate of the east. There is rainfall in every season. During the winter, temperatures can drop down to between 5°C (41.0 °F) and -10°C (14.0 °F). The summer temperatures range between 18°C (64.4 °F) and 30°C (86.0 °F).

1.2% of the world population lives in Germany in 2011!

Germany's Position

Germany is not only known for its economic strength, automobile industry and autobahn but also for the famous Oktoberfest and its traditional beer culture. However, Germany has more to offer than these common known facts.

Germany and the EU

The European Union (EU) is a political and economic federation of currently 27 European independent member states. The members of this union are still sovereign and independent nations. However, they delegate part of their power of decision to supranational and intergovernmental institutions such as the European Council, the European Commission, the European Parliament and the Council of the European Union. This bundling leads to a stronger international influence and allows for common democratic European decisions while creating a single market which ensures the free movement of people, goods, services and capital.

The population of the EU member states amounts to more than 501 million inhabitants generating a GDP (current prices) of 16,242 billion U.S. dollars in 2010.

@ www.epp.eurostat.ec.europa.eu

@ www.imf.org

Germany is the most populous country in the EU and German is the most widely spoken first language in the union. The German economy is the biggest economy within the EU and this makes it one of the leading forces within this union. Germany generates one quarter of the EU's GDP and the export sector is one of the driving forces of its economic strength. The country is known for its high quality and innovative products especially in the fields of environmental technology, engineering, chemical and electronic manufactures. Worldwide known companies such as Volkswagen, BMW, Daimler, BASF, Siemens and Bosch are just some examples of its internationally operating companies. However, the German economy is also extremely strengthened through its medium-sized companies which strongly contribute to Germany's success.

"Thank you for a nice semester at the WHU, not only from an academic – but also social perspective. During my stay I got to know people more inspiring and driven than usual and I bounded lifelong friendships. WHU is a private university where people work and live together, why students also judge and know each other very well. People are open minded and willing to get to know you. Everyone is hard working and wants to achieve their goals - and they do this! WHU was for me the ultimate experience! I thank you for having me as a visiting student from Copenhagen Business School and I wish the school, students and employees all the best in the future."

Jonas Madsen, Copenhagen Business School, Denmark

Germany – an education stronghold

Studying in Germany means to benefit from a high academic standard in a country with a rich history of scientists and explorers making it one of the leading countries in the field of research, science and technology. In addition, Germany, also known as the country/nation of poets and thinkers, offers a rich cultural heritage. Amongst those were Albert Einstein, Ludwig van Beethoven, Johannes Kepler, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, Johann Sebastian Bach, Martin Luther, Karl Benz, Rudolf Diesel, Johannes Gutenberg and Richard Strauss – just to mention some of these outstanding people. The oldest German universities in Heidelberg, Cologne and Erfurt are dating back to the 14th century. In 2010 about 2.2 million students were enrolled in the nearly 400 higher education institutions. The student population is equally divided between men and women and with about 12% of the overall student body being international students making it a very diversified community. The increasing number of English-taught programs and the international focus of higher-education institutions combined with intensive international student mobility create a unique and innovative study system.

Food

Traditionally, food in Germany was mainly based on meat and potatoes but in recent years this has changed as cooking increasingly becomes a hobby and culture also incorporating the many international influences. The great regional variety within Germany varies from Sauerkraut and knuckle of pork to pickled herring and all kinds of dumplings. Germany is also known for its wide choice of sausages and bread. There are about 300 different types of bread and about 1,500 different kinds of sausages.

However, this great variety is not only distinctive for food as Germany is also well known for its beer culture. There are about 5,000 different brands of beer ranging from dark beer to wheat beer to Pilsner. Each region and brewery produces beer with a distinctive taste and body. Especially in recent years wine enjoys an increasing popularity. There are 16 wine-growing regions within Germany and Vallendar is located in one of them, the Middle-Rhine region.

What others think about Germany

Here are some of the clichés that float around about Germany. Once you are here you will see that most of them are not representative but that some of them might even be true. So the best is to come and see it for yourself.

Germans are:

- ... beer drinkers.
- ... huge sausages and sauerkraut eaters.
- ... brass music enthusiasts and wear leather pants ("Lederhosen").
- ... obsessed with punctuality.
- ... lacking a sense of humor.
- ... all blond with blue eyes.
- ... precise, highly organized and hard-working.
- ... in love with their cars.

When answering their phone, Germans do not answer with "hi" or "hello" but with their last name!

Dos and Dont's – Some Handy Things to Know for Daily Life

Manners

- In the German language there is a distinction between the formal you ("Sie") and the familiar you ("du"). Usually adults address each other using the formal "Sie". Generally, Germans take their time before using first names usually as they develop a closer friendship. When you speak to somebody with a title such as a professor than you should use the title and the last name to address him/her correctly.
- Greeting people in Germany might be different than back home. It is very common to shake hands except for friends and family or when entering a public office.
- Germans place a high value on punctuality especially if you have official meetings or appointments such as with a doctor, professor or colleague.

Shopping

- Credit cards are not as common as in other countries such as the U.S. which means that some of the stores or restaurants might not accept them. So be prepared to pay in cash or with an EC bank card (a German bank account is needed).
- Price tags used in Germany already include the value-added tax (VAT, "Mehrwertsteuer"/MwSt.). You can see the amount of the VAT on your receipt.
- To be able to shop in a grocery store or supermarket with a shopping cart you need a one Euro coin. This coin will be inserted in a slot as a deposit.
- When paying your groceries you have to pack them at the same time. This will not be done by the cashier or a bagger.
- Shopping bags in grocery stores and supermarkets are not for free. Either you bring your own bag or you have to pay for every bag you need.
- Most bottles in Germany (glass or plastic) have a bottle deposit. You get this deposit back when you return the bottles (it does not have to be the same store in which you bought them).

Leisure time

- Enjoying a drink or meal in the restaurant might also involve some new insights. Restaurants do not serve tap water. You have to order bottled water which is mostly sparkling. Drinks are usually served without ice. Tip is given directly to the server and is not left on the table.
- Compared to other nations Germans are rather reserved to invite people to their home. Dropping in unannounced is only common among good friends. However, if you are invited it is always nice to bring a little gift for the hostess.
- The German law regulates special rest times, e.g. from 10 p.m. to 6 a.m. during the night and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. during noon. Especially offenses against this rule during night might upset your neighbors who then call the police.

Exchange at WHU – A Lifetime Experience

Why Study Abroad?

Studying abroad will be an enriching adventure where learning takes place inside and outside of the classroom walls. However, deciding if you want to spend one or two semesters abroad at another university in a different country is a difficult and important decision to make. No doubt about that. Here are 10 reasons why you should study in another country:

1. Have the time of your life

Most important about studying abroad is that this will be the time you will always love to look back on. The best time of your life as you explore new things, meet great people, enjoy yourself and travel to new places. An unforgettable time with lots of great memories!

2. Personal growth

Students who return home from their stay abroad often describe this experience as a maturing process, personally and mentally, or even as life-transforming. The situation of being exposed to new ways of thinking and living encourages personal development and independence. After being back home you will most likely experience an increase in self-confidence and you will be filled with pride in what you have accomplished.

3. Exploring the world

Studying in another country or even continent offers the great opportunity to discover new and fascinating natural landscapes, historical landmarks and climates. You can go to places which you otherwise might not have the chance to visit.

4. Meet people from around the globe and make friends for life

While being abroad, you will not only meet citizens of the country in which you study but also other international students from around the globe who are as far away from home as yourself. You will make new friends who you can share interests with and learn new ideas from which last for a lifetime.

5. Expand your view on world affairs

Expand your personal and professional horizon by exchanging ideas with people from other backgrounds and cultures as well as through acquiring first-hand cultural knowledge of the host country. This experience will definitely shape your international perspective.

“WHU’s exchange programme is tailored to your needs. They provide you with plenty of diverse activities, fully equipped classrooms and resources, as well as dedicated professors who encourage you to integrate your personal experience into your course work. I have had the best semester abroad I could have ever imagined. I have only been left with good impressions and memories of my WHU exchange experience. So what I can tell you is that if you are considering participating on this exchange is: DO IT! YOU WON’T REGRET IT!”

Sue Cassel, Universidad de San Andres,
Departamentos de Administración y Economía, Argentina

Germany is the fourth most popular host country for foreign students worldwide!

6. Experience a new culture

Immerse yourself in a totally different culture with its differences in language, food, appearances and personal habits but also perceptions, beliefs and values. All these factors influence one’s way and philosophy of life. Being part of another culture, living it, helps understand one’s own culture and other cultures by strengthening intercultural awareness but also influencing one’s own way of perceiving and interpreting things and situations.

7. Break out of your routine

Do you want to try something new and break out of your daily routine? Studying abroad gives you this option. You will live in another surrounding, dive into another culture and get to know other people and lifestyles. Everything will be new and exciting for you.

8. Enhance your career opportunities

More and more companies value the experiences and skills students gain through studying in another country. In an increasingly globalized world companies seek students who gained international experiences, are culturally aware and embrace challenges.

9. The best way to learn a language

There is no better way to learn a language or improve existing language skills than living in a country where this language is spoken. Being surrounded by the language, speaking and listening to it every day, and experiencing it in its correct cultural context, makes you learn the language in no time.

10. Explore another education system

Studying abroad also means facing a new education system but at the same time giving you the chance to take courses which are not offered at your home school. The courses can either be on other (country-/region-specific) topics or opening up new perspectives on already known topics.

A Unique Experience – What WHU Has to Offer

Besides its outstanding academic programs, studying at WHU also offers the possibility of exploring Germany and Europe right from the center of it.

The school is embedded in one of the nicest regions within Europe, the Upper Middle Rhine Valley. This region is an UNESCO World Heritage site which covers an area with a length of 65 kilometers. This part of the Rhine Valley is characterized by numerous castles, historic cities and villages and is surrounded by beautiful vineyards which shape this great scenery.

However, this location not only offers an insight into age-long history but is also closely connected to the metropolises Frankfurt and Cologne. The capital Berlin as well as cities such as Munich and Hamburg can easily be reached within a couple of hours. At this place the saying – in Europe everything is only a stone's throw away – becomes reality.

During your exchange at WHU you will have the unique opportunity to study with other exchange students from all over the world from our more than 180 partner universities. At the same time you will be a part of the small but very vibrant WHU community developing lifelong friendships.

Our Study Abroad Ambassadors

Who can give you a better impression on how studying abroad at WHU looks like than former exchange students who can give you the best information, share own experiences and introduce you to studying at WHU and life in Germany. The perfect people to answer all your questions and give hands-on advice are our Study Abroad Ambassadors. All our ambassadors have spent one semester/academic year at WHU or are WHU students who are engaged in our student initiative VIP (Vallendar Integration Program) which is responsible for the integration of the exchange students into the WHU student community.

"I had an amazing time at WHU, the IR team, VIP and the students in general were very helpful and did all they could to make my time there more fun. I would have loved to stay longer, and will always remember the great times I had and great people I met there."

Katrina Thorp Wilson, Victoria University of Wellington, Faculty of Commerce and Administration, New Zealand

"I had the most incredible semester abroad at WHU. I was challenged in the classroom by outstanding professors and my fellow students. I learned about Germany and its culture, formed deep and lasting friendships, and had more fun than I ever would have dreamed of having. The experience WHU provided helped shape my life, created wonderful memories and gave me more direction for my future in business."

Lori Lien, University of Southern California, Marshall School of Business, USA

"My semester at WHU has been one of the most extraordinary experiences of my life. The school, the students, and the community have left me with fond memories and lasting impressions. The school staff were incredibly supportive - from assisting with living accommodations to talking with recruiters about career possibilities and even giving great travel advice, staff were helpful in every sense. The faculty are not only experts in their respective fields but also effective teachers who greatly facilitated the learning process. The students, who come from all over the world, were some of the most interesting and simply wonderful people I have ever met. They really made living in a foreign environment feel like a second home, and I will never forget the dinners we had together, the trips we made to faraway places, and especially the parties that never ended. If you want to study business in Europe, there is no place better than Germany, and within Germany there is only one name that truly matters – WHU!"

Oscar Florez Jaramillo, University of Florida, Warrington College of Business Administration, USA

Explore Germany

Germany's central position within Europe, thus being a perfect starting point to explore Europe, is not the only reason for establishing it as one of the top travel locations worldwide. The country's diverse landscapes, culture and history also strongly contribute to its popularity.

Besides the metropolises Berlin, Munich, Cologne and Frankfurt on the Main, Germany also offers spectacular landscapes such as the Wadden Sea in the north, the romantic river valleys in the middle and the snow-covered Alps in the south.

Germany offers 36 UNESCO World Heritage sites such as the Upper Middle Rhine Valley, Cologne Cathedral or the Classical Weimar together with about 4,000 museums and more than 400 theaters and opera houses. Germany is a place where you can travel through history by visiting one of the century old 5,000 castles or places while at the same time experiencing recent history when walking along the former course of the Berlin Wall and still seeing some original pieces of it.

Besides being the 2nd most popular cultural travel destination within Europe, the country is also the number one destination for business trips with state-of-the-art trade, conference and convention centers.

Wandering through Koblenz will give you an idea of its fascinating character: romantic little lanes and historical squares intermingled with shops, restaurants and cosy taverns. A walk from the market place “Florinsmarkt” to the square “Münzplatz” and from there on to “Jesuitenplatz” will take you past beautifully restored shops and offices, the churches “Florinskirche” and “Liebfrauenkirche” and numerous cultural monuments along the way. Modern shopping is available in Koblenz in historical surroundings. In between, take a break in one of the original wine bars or sit in the open air and relax and enjoy the sights around you. From here it is only few steps to the banks of the Rhine or the Moselle and the experience of strolling along the promenade amidst a wonderful landscape.

Koblenz was given its name by the Romans with the construction of “Castellum apud Confluentes”. Visitors on the trail of Koblenz's past find themselves caught up in the history of a town which over the centuries was captured by the Franconians, chosen by dukes (electoral princes) as residence, occupied by the French and ruled by Prussia. Fortress walls and towers, castles, residences, monuments and parks paint a convincing picture of the town's eventful past. Emperors, dukes and kings have resided in Koblenz. Visitors from all over the world discover the buildings and cultural heritage they left behind. The notion that food and drink soothe the body and soul does not just apply to Koblenz. Nevertheless, savouring the specialities from this region is a particular and unique experience. Enjoy original dishes such as “Deppekoche” (potato pancakes made of grated potatoes, bacon and onions), together with a young or mature wine from the steep slopes of the Moselle vineyards or the Rhine valley – simply irresistible.

@ <http://fulltime-mba.whu.edu>

“The opportunity to complete my concentration module within the WHU’s MBA Full-time Program as an exchange student was the perfect way to put in practice everything I’ve learned in my home university. WHU offers the adequate environment to live an exciting international experience. You get the feeling that you can actually learn from every space you have, from every class you take and most important, from every person you meet. The curricula are just amazing. Inside the courses, you can discover such amount of different ways of doing things that a student cannot wait to implement them in his own projects, and sometimes, even into his personality. Moreover, WHU, as one of the top schools of management in Germany, teaches the best practices in business used in this leading European country in combination with the most known and accepted theories from all over the world. The synergy is truly remarkable. Professors, course material, infrastructure and classmates make this happen. This was always my choice and now I can say that I wouldn’t change it for anything.”

Course and Program Particularities

Course offer

Students will be allowed to follow courses according to their academic background and program studied at their home school and can choose from almost all courses offered in all semesters of the respective study program during their exchange at WHU. 80% of the courses in the undergraduate program and 100% of the courses in the graduate programs are taught in English. Courses at WHU do not have course codes. In general, courses from a higher semester are more advanced. As the semester at WHU is divided into two quarters (please check also the section “Academic Calendar and Admission Procedure”), courses are usually only taught in one quarter but there are also some courses running through both quarters. Information about courses that have been offered during past terms and that are currently offered is available through our online course guide.

www.whu.edu/courseguide

This course guide is only an initial reference in order to be able to discuss the course approval with your home institution. Please keep in mind that this tentative course guide is subject to change and your final course selection can only be made once your term has started at WHU.

MBA admission requirements

Master and MBA students can take courses from both the Master of Science and the full-time MBA program offered at WHU. However, please note that in order to be able to take MBA classes you must fulfill the following prerequisites:

1. Minimum age: 24 years
2. Language requirements: English as mother tongue or currently studying in an entirely English taught and examined program or TOEFL score of at least 100 points (internet-based)
3. In addition, Master students (non-MBA) need to show proof of two years of working experience (full-time job or full-time internships in business administration)

Special MBA Program information

MBA courses are not organized in the quarters mentioned above. They begin during different weeks and months of the term. Each course consists of 6 sessions and is usually spread over a period of two weeks, with lectures taking place for 3 to 4 hours per session (including breaks). Exams take place on different days during the term! This means, according to the courses you choose, in fall exams could be scheduled anytime between end of September until shortly before Christmas and in spring anytime between end of January until end of February.

Due to the MBA program structure during the following periods NO MBA courses or exams will be held, as our local MBA students will be studying abroad in their international modules:

Fall term: mid-November, duration: 2 - 3 weeks, location: USA

Spring term: February/March, duration: 4 weeks, location: China / India,

MBA classes will finish mid-/end of February.

Language requirements

Undergraduate and graduate (non-MBA) exchange students do not need to show proof of their proficiency in English. In those cases the selection process of our partner universities is sufficient. Graduate students (MBA, MSc) wishing to enter the MBA program, however, do need to show proof of their English proficiency (please see section “MBA admission requirements”).

Course registration

Course registration will be performed upon arrival through our intranet. There will be a special information session about this during the orientation days. You will have access to a detailed schedule of classes and exams upon arrival at WHU. It will be available in our intranet (www.mywhu.com). You will receive your login data during the orientation days.

Workload

A regular workload for exchange students at WHU is considered to be 5 to 7 courses per semester. However, you should always discuss your choice of courses and the amount of credits/courses you need with your home university to make sure that your semester abroad will be validated back home as your home university will decide which courses are applicable to your program of study and how many courses are required for a full semester.

Class format

WHU offers different class types ranging from regular classes, running one quarter, to compact courses with a duration of just two or three full days. Depending on the individual course there are different methods of assessment (exams, papers, presentations etc.). In general a course has 24 contact hours in total which are differently scheduled within the semester e.g. a class each week, a three days compact course, a seminar-type course.

Exams

Exams will be held during the last week of each quarter. However, there may be some exceptions.

Credit transfer and ECTS

Credits at WHU are stated in ECTS credits. ECTS, the European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System, is a standard for comparing the study volume / workload and performance of students of higher education across the European Union and other collaborating European countries. The system is used to facilitate the transfer and progression of course achievements throughout the European Union. 1 ECTS credit equals 25-30 hours of overall workload, i.e. including contact hours, group work, cases, lecture and exam preparation.

120,000,000 people worldwide speak German as their first language!

“During my exchange at WHU, I had a great experience inside and outside the classrooms. In both courses that I took, Entrepreneur and Brand & Price Management, I enjoyed and learned a lot from classmates and professors. Also, I had the opportunity to get to know different people and cultures which expand my perspective further. My stay at WHU has been one of the most memorable experiences. Thank you for such a warm welcome!”

German language courses

German is the official language in Germany. It is also spoken in other European countries, such as Austria, Liechtenstein, Switzerland, etc. German mother tongue speakers make up the highest number of native speakers in the European Union and it belongs to the ten most important languages in the world. The German language is characterized by a wide range of regional accents and dialects. This variety of languages reflects the wide variety of regional cultures and habits in Germany and is a source of many jokes. However, there is the standard German (called “Hochdeutsch”) and it is spoken in many regions of Germany.

WHU offers free German classes for all exchange students. Each student will have the opportunity to take a placement test with one of our German teachers during our orientation days. The following levels are offered and students are placed in the level according to their knowledge of German:

- Prep-Course
- Level I: Basics
- Level II: Intermediate
- Level III: Advanced
- Level IV: Proficiency

Please consider that our German courses are not separated into quarters. This means each course will have classes during the whole term and the exam will be held at the end of the term.

Methods of instruction:

- Communicative approach
- Exercises to encourage and initiate individual and independent study of German
- Individual, partner and group work

Course content:

- Studying and living in a German-speaking country
- Socio-cultural aspects
- Relating to others
- Politics, culture and literature

Course material will be given to you during the first class. At the end of the course you will take an exam. The result you obtain in this exam will also appear on your final transcript. In addition to the final transcript, on which all classes you took at WHU are listed, you will receive a special certificate showing your participation in the German class.

Preparatory classes

If you are interested in learning some German prior to your stay at WHU, you can find information regarding non-WHU German courses at the Goethe-Institut. The Goethe-Institut is Germany's cultural institution operating worldwide. You find offices from the Goethe-Institut in various locations abroad as well as throughout Germany. They offer various levels of courses throughout the year. Please find more information at the following website:

@ www.goethe.de

German classes are also offered by the "Institut für Internationale Kommunikation" at the University of Düsseldorf.

@ www.iik-duesseldorf.de

TestDaF

TestDaF is a centralized and standardized language test for German as a Foreign Language. WHU is a Test-DaF-Center. Therefore, you have the possibility to take the TestDaF at WHU in April. For more information, please contact the German language teachers once you arrived at WHU.

Tandem – language exchange program

You will have the possibility to find a German student studying your native language as a conversation partner. We suggest you meet at least once a week for about one hour, practicing half of the time German, the other half your language and speaking about cultural themes. When, where and how often you meet is to be decided by you and your partner. If you are interested in this program, just register by sign in the lists which will be distributed in the German language courses.

Buddy Program

During your stay at WHU, you will be assigned two buddies: a student buddy and an academic buddy. The student buddy can help you out with all "regular" questions concerning studying at WHU and everyday life (at WHU and in Germany) whereas the academic buddy as a faculty member can help you as a counsellor with more specific academic questions (concerning literature etc.) you might have once you started your term at WHU. You will get more information about your academic buddy during your first week at WHU.

Your student buddy will contact you, so that you can already get in touch via email before your arrival and communicate about possible questions. If you wish so, your student buddy might also pick you up at the train station when you arrive. Just ask him/her about this possibility. Your student buddy can show WHU and the city to you, take you to meet his/her friends, have a coffee with you etc. It is a great opportunity to meet German students and to integrate into the WHU student body!

"WHU offers its students an exciting and challenging curriculum. The daily coursework and class discussions continually push students out of their comfort zones, and the frequent in-class presentations require students to synthesize their learnings and defend their ideas. Exchange students are welcomed as part of the WHU community from their first day on campus."

Tuck School of Business, USA

Career Service

WHU's Career Service is the point of contact between companies, students and alumni. By conducting numerous career activities for students in all programs – including exchange students – we offer occupational orientation and an exciting platform for networking with company representatives and Alumni. There are two major recruiting fairs on WHU's annual calendar. The first, a two-day recruiting event called "Master Your Career", takes place end of January of each year. The second, "Career Day", invites students and companies to get to know each other and takes place every year in September or October.

Throughout the year, companies that support WHU get the exclusive chance to present themselves to students during an evening event. All WHU students are invited to these presentations which are usually followed by a networking dinner offering another great chance for students to network with company representatives.

Additionally, WHU's Career Service organizes workshops, trainings such as application and interview training, or talks on various topics with external trainers, Alumni or company representatives. Annually, more than 50 companies are active at WHU – among them both long-term partners as well as new interesting businesses.

You will receive a regular newsletter informing you about all WHU career activities. It also includes internship and job offers as well as interesting news from our sponsor companies or alumni. You are also invited to contact Career Service for individual counseling, especially if you are looking for an internship or job in Germany or Europe. With our open-door policy, we offer you an easy and direct way to get in touch with us – we are looking forward to meeting you!

Student Initiatives

Many of the WHU students take the time to enrich their university life by engaging in one of countless student initiatives. Be it sport, music, art, theater, the stock exchange or social commitments – campus life offers something for everybody. Barely a class leaves WHU without having added a new initiative to the list. Here are some examples:

VIP – Vallendar Integration Program

First of all a warm welcome from our side as well! We are all students of WHU and together we form the student initiative "VIP." VIP stands for "Vallendar Integration Program" and we will try to help you to integrate into the student community here at WHU. Tauschies are an essential part of our lives as WHU students. Each term, exchange students from all over the world represent about one quarter of our student community at the university, and all of us are very committed to make your stay an enriching and pleasurable experience. Before you arrive at WHU we are happy to help you with all kinds of questions regarding student life in Vallendar. Then, at the beginning of your stay you will get the opportunity to take part in our welcoming activities, such as BBQs and team building events. In the course of the term we will arrange a number of trips to different locations and events, e.g. an excursion to the famous Oktoberfest in Munich. You can also get advice from VIP on how to apply for an internship or a job in Germany and we can give you support if there is a trip or event you want to organize during your stay. We will meet you during the orientation days from the International Relations Office. We are looking forward to meeting you and to welcoming you as a Tauschie at WHU in Germany!

WHU Euromasters

The international sports festival "WHU Euromasters" has been organized by WHU students since 1997 and has become the largest and most significant business school sports festival in Europe. Euromasters brings together business students from universities throughout Europe and, in addition to offering top-class sport, makes a unique contribution to the generation of student networks and contacts. On the first weekend of November every year, almost 1,000 students from top schools in Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, the UK and Switzerland compete against one another in basketball, cheerleading, soccer, rowing, relay running and volleyball. The closing ceremony, traditionally held on a Saturday evening, is celebrated in form of a huge party following the relay race.

Theater group

The WHU student theater group has been in existence since fall 1989. Its founder was Philipp Burgtorf (Diplom class of 1993), who received acting and directing classes during a year abroad. Over the years, the amateur actors have delighted audiences with their performances, including classics by Sartre, Camus, Dürrenmatt and Shakespeare, as well as comedies by Arnold/Bach, Simons. The WHU theater group is known for the extraordinary dedication of the constantly changing members of the ensemble, great attention to detail and very different types of characters. The rewards for all this effort are regular sell-out performances and rapt audiences that are not limited to members of the WHU community, since all performances are open to the public.

WHU students help

WHU Studenten helfen e.V. (“Students Help”) was founded in fall 2004. The aim of this initiative is to put social commitment into effect in form of real-life projects. This should establish a basis from which the activities can be sustained in the long-term and to motivate future classes to instigate their own diverse aid projects. The budding initiative’s first project is to help equip a gynecological clinic in Herat, Afghanistan. In late May 2005, eight WHU students flew to Afghanistan in order to personally deliver three sea containers packed full of medical supplies and to ensure that the medical devices could be put to good use.

Confluents

Confluents e.V. is the students’ consultancy at WHU – Otto Beisheim School of Management. It aims at providing businesses with the expertise and capacities of WHU’s Bachelor, Master and Ph.D. students. Since 1994, Confluents conducts projects covering the whole value chain, developing efficient and effective solutions. Currently, about 400 students from all programs engage in approximately 70 projects per year and across all sectors, ranging from family business to DAX companies (stock index of Germany’s largest firms). Thereby, students can contribute theoretical knowledge from their studies and leverage experience from internships to further develop their practical skills. In addition, close cooperation with chairs and research centers as well as with WHU’s alumni network contributes towards a close symbiosis of science and praxis. Of course, your work on a project will be remunerated. Furthermore, all profits raised by these projects benefit the university and its direct environment.

Housing Information

As Vallendar is a small town, WHU can only offer very few housing options directly located next to the university buildings. Our housing coordinator Philomena Richartz will assist you in finding the appropriate type of accommodation. Regarding life in Vallendar, we would like to emphasize that the center of Vallendar is surrounded by several hills. Some apartments, for example the apartments at “Humboldthöhe”, are located uphill or half way uphill and other housing options are within 5 to 20 min walking distance. In Vallendar, it is quite usual to walk about 10 to 20 minutes to the center where WHU buildings, shops and bus stations are located. If you would like our housing office to help you find an accommodation, please indicate this in your online application.

Please be assured that our Housing Office will make every effort to find suitable housing for you, but it is each student’s responsibility to secure accommodation. Philomena Richartz will offer you a housing option according to your indications in the online application. After your acceptance she will help you to get in touch with your future landlord. A kind of pre-contract is to be made between you and WHU in any case. Some private landlords might close an own contract with you, which means that you pay your rent directly to him/her. A security deposit of 350 € is also required for each type of accommodation, including private apartments, and must be paid to WHU regardless of the housing option chosen.

Here are some of the housing options available:

Campus Krautkrämer

Campus Krautkrämer is located in about 5 minutes walking distance from WHU and offers fully furnished apartments. This includes, besides the standard inventory fittings, bed linen, dishes and other kitchen utensils etc.

Apartment house “Heerstraße”

Heerstraße is a renovated historical building and opened in 2011. It is situated directly within the Vallendar pedestrian area and within 2 minutes walking distance to WHU. It offers 8 single apartments, each modernly furnished with a single loftbed with integrated closet, desk, chair, table, kitchen facility and private bathroom.

Apartment house "Höhrer Straße"

Höhrer Straße is a modern building with student apartments in various sizes and also opened in 2011. It is located in less than 5 minutes walking distance to WHU and the center of Vallendar. The students are living in several single and two-bedroom apartments as well as shared flats for 4 or 5 people. All units are fully furnished with a completely equipped kitchenette and a separate bathroom.

Haus Wildburg

Haus Wildburg is a historical and romantic building that belongs to the "Schönstätter Marienschwestern", who belong to the Schönstatt Family, an internationally active Catholic group. A part of the building is still used by the Schönstatt family, but WHU students stay in a separated wing with a separate entrance. This housing option combines the advantage of being quite near to WHU (approx. 8 minutes walking distance) and the center of Vallendar. The two fully equipped kitchens plus the five bath/shower-rooms (equipped with washing machines/dryers) are to be shared by the students. Additionally they can use the four lounges.

Humboldthöhe

The "Humboldthöhe" is a big apartment house in Vallendar, about 5-10 minutes walking distance and was originally used as a senior residence. However, now the house is shared by seniors and WHU students. The apartments vary in sizes from a 1-room apartment with 29 m² to 3-room apartment with 86m². All come with a separate, own bathroom and a fully equipped kitchenette. They were totally renovated in late 2010, modernly furnished and fully equipped.

Private apartments

There is a very wide range of private apartments available, varying in terms of the level of furnishing, their size and their distance from WHU. All apartments offered to international students are fully furnished, and include a fitted kitchen, bed linen and bath towels. Some apartments also include a washing machine, whereas some landlords offer a washing service. Most apartments are designed for singles, comprising a bed/living room with a single bed or sofa bed, kitchen/kitchenette and bathroom. Some apartments are offered as shared accommodation to two students. These comprise two bedrooms, with a single bed each, a kitchen and bathroom. Very few apartments have a separate living room. Some landlords or WHU students offer individual rooms for rent; in such cases, students have their own bedroom with a single bed, and the bathroom and kitchen are shared.

"I had a remarkable experience on exchange at WHU. During my time here, the International Relations Office Staff as well as the VIP Team planned various trips and activities for the new students to participate in, including a trip to Oktoberfest. Through these activities and due to the fact that WHU has a smaller community, I got to know mostly all of the new exchange students and some German students. It was unbelievable that I was meeting so many people, who had all these different backgrounds. I learned so much from them and even picked up on some words from the different languages. If I had any questions, other students and the exchange coordinators were always there to help. I traveled to many countries around Europe as well as to different cities within Germany with the new friends I made. Overall, the four months I spent at WHU were like none other and full of great memories!"

Healthcare and Visa/Residence Permit Requirements

German Healthcare System

The German healthcare system has the reputation of being one of the best in the world. There is an extensive network of hospitals and doctors covering even the remotest areas of Germany. Medical facilities are equipped with the latest technology and the national health insurance system provides nearly full coverage for most medical treatments and medicines. Almost everybody in Germany has access to this system, irrespective of income or social status. The downside is that medical costs are high. Health care costs – for doctors, hospital stays and even medicines – are among the most expensive in the world. Any type of health care in state or private hospitals in Germany has to be paid by you or your health insurance!

When living in Germany, it is therefore extremely important to have an adequate health insurance, as a serious illness may otherwise cause huge medical expenses for you. For exchange students in Germany, health insurance with full coverage for sickness, emergencies and all medical expenses is absolutely mandatory. Therefore, you will have to provide proof of health insurance upon your arrival at WHU. It has to cover the following aspects to be acknowledged:

- The period of time: coverage of the whole stay in Germany.
- The region: Overseas, Europe and Germany have to be covered.
- Emergencies have to be covered.
- All medical expenses have to be covered.

There is an agreement for European Union citizens which guarantees free medical treatment in Germany. This means, European citizens who are travelling or living within the European Union receive a European Health Insurance Card from their home health insurance company, which simplifies the procedure when receiving medical assistance during their stay in a Member State. The European Health Insurance Card replaces the forms E111, E111B, E128 and E119.

Non-EU citizens need a sufficient health insurance as well. If you are no older than 30 years, you can decide whether to acquire a health insurance with full coverage in your home country (see above-mentioned aspects) or obtain it from the German insurance company AOK upon arrival at WHU. You must apply for it as soon as you get to Germany. The cost for students is approximately 80 € per month. The application process could take up to three weeks but you are already insured during this period. Afterwards AOK will send you the proof of insurance.

Insurance from AOK covers in short: Medical treatment, with free choice of doctors and dentist, hospital treatment, complementary treatment and devices aids and wheel chairs, check-ups for prevention and early diseases, examinations relating to pregnancy and preventive dentistry.

If you are 30 years or older, a health insurance via a German insurance company is not possible. Therefore, you definitely need to acquire a health insurance covering the above-mentioned necessary aspects in your home country.

Visa

Depending on your nationality, you might need a visa and a residence permit in order to be able to study in Germany. Please take care of visa matters as early as possible in order to be able to start your term abroad without any problems. As you have to apply for the visa from your home country (or country of residence), we suggest to start this process at least about two months prior to your departure from your home country. Please always contact or visit the website of your local German Consulate to find out if you need a visa prior to your trip to Germany/Europe. You can also check the website of the German Federal Foreign Office

http://www.auswaertiges-amt.de/EN/Startseite_node.html

EU citizens and students from some other nationalities (for example from Australia, Israel, Japan, Canada, Republic of Korea, New Zealand and the USA) do not need a visa prior to entering Germany. So, just pack your suitcase, book a flight and come to Germany!

Those who do need a visa (for example students from China, India, Thailand and Turkey) must apply in their home country as visas are never issued in Germany! For your visa application you will need the letter of acceptance ("Immatrikulationsbescheinigung") from WHU, which you will receive after your application has been processed, as well as some other documents (please ask at your local German Consulate for more information or check the mentioned website). The visa will normally be issued for a period of three months, regardless of the time you will be staying in Germany. Once you entered Germany with a visa, you will apply for a residence permit covering the entire time of your stay.

Residence Permit

All Non-EU citizens staying in Germany for more than 3 months must officially obtain a residence permit. You will need to apply for your student residence permit at the local alien office (Ausländerbehörde) in Koblenz after your arrival. The International Relations Office will assist you in this matter and will inform you in detail during the orientation days about the process. In order to save time, we kindly ask you and strongly suggest that you gather the required documents before you leave your home country. This will save you a lot of time and problems.

You need to gather the following documents:

- Photocopy (or print out) of recently-dated proof of sufficient funds (at least 670 €) in English or in German (bank statement, account statement, certificate of scholarship and/or parent's certificate including parents' bank statement).
- Photocopy of proof of valid health insurance in English or German (mandatory data needed: confirmation letter specifying coverage for sickness, emergencies and all medical expenses, insurance period (whole time you will spend in Germany/Europe), region or country of coverage, your name).
- Photocopy of passport
- Photocopy of WHU letter of acceptance
- Passport-sized photo

Getting Settled – Practical Information

On average Germany has 1,550 hours of sunshine per year!

Weather

Germany is situated between the West Winds of the Atlantic Ocean and the continental climate of the South. There is rainfall in every season. During the winter, temperatures can drop to between 5°C (41.0°F) and -10°C (14.0°F). The summer temperatures range between 18°C (64.4°F) and 30°C (86.0°F). So please bring appropriate clothes for spring and summer, incl. sweaters and umbrellas/raincoats.

Electricity

In Germany all electrical outlet points are designed for 220 volt, 50 HZ, AC and two-prong plugs. Any adapters you may need can be bought in electronics shops.

Credit cards

All the major international credits cards – MasterCard, Visa and American Express – are more and more accepted, especially at major hotels, petrol stations and department stores. However, don't assume that you'll be able to use your card to pay for meals but inquire first. ATMs are ubiquitous throughout Germany and you should have no problem accessing your credit or debit account back home. Foreign currency, including traveller cheques, can be exchanged at banks and special exchange shops in large towns.

Gratuities

Although gratuities are included to a certain amount in the bill, customers are expected to tip for good service.

Internet and computer facilities

You have full access to all WHU computer facilities and W-LAN/wifi is provided all over campus.

Drinking tap water

In Germany the tap water has an excellent quality and is generally safe to drink. However, it is not common to order tap water in the restaurant.

Banks

There are two banks very close to WHU, where you can open a bank account (even for a short term period):

- Sparkasse Koblenz, Heerstraße 57-59, Vallendar, Phone: 0261 / 393 5040
- Volksbank, Heerstraße 50a, Phone: 0261 / 640 080

Both the Sparkasse and the Volksbank accept Mastercard and Visa which you can use at the cashpoint (ATM).

Transferring money

In Germany the common ways to transfer money are transfers ("Überweisung"), standing orders ("Dauerauftrag") and direct debits ("Lastschrift"). It is very uncommon to write out a check to pay for your rent for example. Transfers are used to send money from one bank account to another. You can either fill in a transfer form at your bank (paper form or electronic) or via your online banking.

Standing orders are used for regular payments of the same amount such as rent. After you have set up a standing order, the amount is deducted automatically from your account on the fixed date. For recurring sums that vary in size, e.g. telephone bills, it is common to use the direct debit method. After you have given the recipient of the money the approval to deduct the money from your account, the money will be drawn automatically from your account. If you do not wish to use direct debit anymore, you can cancel it at any time. In case of incorrect payment you can always countermand the payment to get your money back.

Currency

Since 2002 the official currency used in Germany (and 16 other European countries) is Euro (€). It is issued in coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cent or 1 and 2 Euros and bills of 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 Euros.

Food

Germany is a traditional meat-and-potatoes country. However, you will find a wide range of international restaurants with all styles of food beside this traditional cooking. A classical German breakfast includes rolls, jam, cheese, cold meats, hard-boiled egg and coffee or tea. Beer is the national beverage and it is one cultural phenomenon that must be adequately explored. The beer is excellent and relatively cheap. Each region and brewery produces beer with a distinctive taste and body.

Shopping

In larger cities most stores are open from 10.00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. from Monday to Saturday. In smaller cities stores close around 6:00 p.m. Sundays all shops are closed. Only some bakeries are open in the morning.

Telephone/cell phone

Most of the housing options offered by WHU do not have a landline phone and for you it is quite complicated to get a telephone line installed at your home for this short duration. Therefore, most exchange students decide just to have a cell phone. The easiest option for this is to have a pre-paid account. You would just buy a sim card (with or without a phone) at a local supermarket, gas station or electronic store and top up your account with a certain amount of money. You only need to bring along your ID card or passport. When your credit starts to run out simply re-charge your account by buying a prepaid card at a kiosk, gas station or supermarket.

To get a mobile subscription you need to sign a contract with a provider. However, mobile subscriptions usually have a minimum duration of two years and the provider will obtain a General Credit Protection Agency disclosure from you. As wireless LAN is provided around campus and all housing options offer internet most students use internet telephone providers to call family and friends back home.

“The WHU experience was a much rewarding and charming one to me. In a calm yet welcoming atmosphere, I felt not only at ease but also much enriched and empowered in my student life! Staff at school, local students, fellow Tauschies, and the inhabitants of the town, all made up memories for me to cherish. During my stay there, I benefited from business education of high quality, and relished the German lifestyle as well as a diverse international culture. Observing WHU’s 25th anniversary, I witnessed this ambitious business institution’s glorious past and promising future. To conclude, I would condense my personal experience at WHU into the same three letters – Well-rounded, Hospitable, and Unfading.”

Getting Around – Transportation

Beside walking or cycling, getting around is very easy using the public transport system (bus or trains) as Germany has one of the best public transport systems in the world.

Bus

There is a very good bus connection between Vallendar and downtown Koblenz (bus line number 8). Single bus tickets can be bought directly from the bus driver (you can receive a discount if you also show your Bahncard, a discount card for the main German railway company). The timetable of all bus lines can be found at:

@ www.kevag.de/kevag-verkehrs-service (the page is only available in German)

Train

There is also a train station in Vallendar, which is served by trains to Koblenz and Mönchengladbach (via Bonn and Cologne). Trains in both directions leave every hour. You have to buy a ticket before entering the train. Most train stations have a ticket machine where you can buy your ticket. For discounts on train rides it is possible to buy the annual „Bahncard“ (discount card) which is offered in different options, 25 or 50 % discount. Schedules and discount option can be found on the website:

@ www.bahn.de/en

Car

Germans are known for their passion for cars and their high-speed Autobahn but as in each aspect of their lives Germans are also strict and serious on their traffic regulations. Please be aware that international drivers licences are only valid for 6 months after entry to Germany. Driving in Germany might be subject to different rules than in your home country.

Here are some general driving rules:

- It is illegal to pass on the right lane on the Autobahn. Slow moving vehicles must always move to the right, and faster vehicles may pass on the left only.
- If not otherwise indicated, the speed limit in cities is 50 km/h (31 mph). However, there are also 30 km/h (18 mph) speed limits especially in areas where children or pedestrians should be protected by this reduction.
- The speed limit on two-lane highways is 100 km/h (62 mph) if nothing else is indicated.
- There is no general speed limit on the German Autobahn (express highway). However, the recommended speed level is 130 km/h.
- Depending on the driving conditions, e.g. sharp curves or road works, speed limits are enforced so please look out for the speed signs.
- Seat belts are mandatory for all passengers, front and back.
- If you see a white-striped “zebra” pedestrian crossing you have to stop to for pedestrians that want to cross the street.
- By German law every car has to be equipped with a portable red reflective triangle and a first aid kit.
- You always have to carry your drivers licence and the car papers with you when driving a car.

Airplane

The short distances between countries and the very well developed route network in Germany and Europe makes travelling by plane very easy and comfortable. Since the early 90s low-cost carriers have more and more established themselves all over Europe and enjoy great popularity especially among young adults and students. There are several international airports close to Vallendar which can be reached quite easily. Frankfurt International and Frankfurt Hahn as well as Cologne/Bonn are the closest ones but Duesseldorf is also easy to reach.

Some of the most common low-cost airlines are:

Bike

In Germany it is quite common to ride a bike to get around and the flat landscape around Vallendar and the short distances invite to ride a bike. You can either buy a bike in a local bike store, from fellow students or from ads in the local newspaper. Alternatively you can rent a bike from a bike rental shop in Koblenz. On weekends and public holidays reservation is recommended. More information can be found at:

“Studying as an exchange student at WHU was the most fulfilling educational and cultural experience of my academic career. Vallendar is a close and vibrant community that really makes a person feel welcome. The faculty will challenge you in ways that help you learn and grow, but are always there to answer questions and provide guidance. WHU is truly a learning community with a global perspective and appreciation for diversity. The campus is packed with amazing facilities but small enough to provide an intimate learning experience. The IRO and VIP teams will ensure your experience is great and are attentive to any needs or questions you might have as a new resident in Germany. I cannot say enough about my classmates and new friends. As a student at WHU you will have opportunities to explore Germany and Europe while pushing yourself academically and making friendships that last will a lifetime.”
